Volunteer Fire Brigade Brings Home Trophy From Ball Tourney

In the fourth and final game played between Lac la Biche and Elk Point, a spectacular play by Jimmie Hamar brought the lac la Biche team up from behind the opposing team and gave them an extra run to win the game just as darkness fell.

The Lac la Biche team was composed of D. Bourque, catcher; Peter Kerelchuk, pitcher; Ben Rizzoli, 1st base; Ernie Coutney 2nd base; E. G. Dobson, 3rd base; D. Owcher, short stop; R. Lozinski center field; Jimmie Hamar, left field; Bob Rudiger right field; and John Onufruw, manager and coach.

Following the games presentation of the trophy was made at the Civic Centre. The trophy was won by St. Paul in 1956, Bonnyville in 1957-1958 and 1959. It will be on display in town shortly.

Operation Of System To Be Placed Under Supervision Of Inspector

LAC LA BICHE — At the regular meeting of town council, held recently, discussions on the installation and operation of the town's natural gas system was the chief matter of business. Mr. Robertson of Banister Construction Co., Earl Christenson, the proposed town gas manager, and J. Flavin of the firm of Pryde and Flavin, gas consultants and engineers of Calgary, were present and introduced to council.

Mr. Robertson gave a brief report of supplies already ordered and in the discussion which followed it was agreed that Banister Construction would assist the town in setting up a regular accounting system for town gas bills, meter readings and collection methods.

Mayor Maccagno read a letter received from the solicitor of the town in connection with changes recommended in the proposed construction contract and management contract.

Mr. Flavin gave a brief outline of his duties in connection with his position as consulting engineer for the town. He suggested that the system be placed under the supervision of a gas inspector, giving the name of an official connected with the department of industries and labor. The council agreed that this suggestion was an excellent one and would be followed, along with making up a by-law covering the regulations that would be recommended by the inspector, to be used as a guide by the town gas manager and the council.

Concerning the gas supply, the mayor read a letter addressed to Sage Oils Ltd. in connection with the requirements for the town for the next 30 to 40 years.

Mr. Robertson stated that negotiations would commence with Sage Oils at once. Mr. Flavin gave a general outline of the services his firm would provide to the town. They included supervision of the work being performed by Banister Construction Co., detailed study of plans and specifications, the matter of hook-ups, regulators and meters.

In the matter of insurance, Mr Robinson stated that the insurance covering construction operations was now in force and required insurance for the operation was arranged for and ready for application when operation of the system commenced.

A supply of pipe sufficient to complete the distribution system has been delivered to the town and crews have completed preparation of the pipe ready for installation. Machinery for trenching was expected early in the week of August 22 and the construction company expected to lay all main lines throughout the town in a matter of three days. Service lines to customers will necessarily take more time.

Athabasca County Council Delays Backsloping Action

On August 11, Athabasca County Council considered the request made by G. L. Godel to clarify the council's stand on backsloping roads and subsequent tree planting. The cost of backsloping in many cases is as high as building the road, and the council was loath to fully endorse any such program at the present time.

It was moved that the secretary write Mr. Godel and thank him for his interest and assistance in country operations, and inform him that although the Council is in agreement that a policy of backsloping roads under construction is desirable, it is beyond our ability to carry out this program at the present time. We feel that advocating a policy of backsloping should be delayed until we are in a position to carry out this method of road construction throughout the county.

Councillor Lechky reported on the quarterly meeting of the Edmonton Union of M.D. held on July 25.

At the request of the council, N. Symyrozum, former councillor for the division, and A. Rooke interviewed the council in regard to winter work brushing. After some discussion it was left for a committee investigation.

Charlie Tarter asked the council for a means of entrance to his home.

Mike Menu interviewed the council regarding the impossibility of his road. While this is more or less a private road, it is the only means his children have of getting to the school bus. It serves one other resident, and council agreed to help with gravelling provided the two would put up $100 each toward the cost of same.

W. Chymchym interviewed the council in regard to a ditch to drain his land. Council felt this was a matter for the Water Resources Branch, and he will contact them.

Mike Witiuk had a problem in regard to drainage and a committee will investigate the situation.

Construction Equipment interviewed the council in regard to a self-loading scraper (Tournapull). No action was taken.

Welfare cases were heard, and a case of sale under the Tax Recovery Act.

Richardson Equipment's representative appeared before the council with plans for a demonstration of a 14 yd. scraper. It was planned for later in the month.

BEING FOOTBALL HERO HELPS:

Are We Color-Bar Smug?

By Carl T. Rowan
(Toronto Telegram News Service)

Rowan, a young Negro reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune, has written five books and won several journalistic awards. This article is reprinted in part from EBONY magazine.

There's a young Negro school teacher in Edmonton, who lives in an integrated neighborhood, worships in an integrated church, teaches in a predominantly white school — and a few weeks ago was readily accepted for membership in the exclusive Derrick Golf and Country Club.

But he's a football hero—Rollie Miles, star halfback of the Edmonton Eskimos—and it wouldn't have happened in Calgary.

"You don't have to be a football hero to avoid discrimination in Canada — but it sure helps," says Miles.

Rollie Miles

For it's apparent that a top Negro athlete or a top Negro entertainer wins almost certain exemption from racial prejudice in Canada.

If the same thing could be said for the less famous, more ordinary Negro, then Canadians might really have something to be smug about.

Closer to typical is the case of Wilbert Richardson, well-to-do operator fo Wayne Distributors and Advertisers Co., who in 1958 tried to buy a lot in the Toronto suburb of Etobicoke where he planned to build a $45,000 home.

REFUSED TO SELL . . .

The builder refused to sell "to Japanese, Chinese or Negroes because property values would decrease around here by about $20,000 if I did," according to Richardson's report.

Also in Toronto, a discrimination test was run last fall on 26 apartments listed for rent. First Clarence Lewsey, 38-year-old Negro railway porter, applied for the apartments, and shortly behind him Mrs. Joan Gauthier, white wife of a University of Toronto professor.

Nine apartment owners refused Lewsey while accepting Mrs. Gauthier; 11 were willing to rent to the Negro; the other six were indecisive.

AMERICAN INFLUENCE

One thing shown by this test, however, is that Lewsey's number of acceptances—while disturbingly low to Canadians—probably is considerably higher than it would have been in any comparable city in the States.

Both Rollie Miles of Edmonton and Theodore King, 43-year-old Calgary credit manager and leader of the Alberta Association for the Advancement of Colored People, are inclined to blame "American influence" for at least some of Canada's racial troubles.

Miles says, for instance, he'd never have got exclusive Country Club membership in Calgary because Calgary is under much greater American influence than Edmonton.

King points out that while Canada has no "Deep South," there are areas in which discriminations are more severe than others, and that "American influence" is very obvious in the worst areas.

BLACKBALL

In Windsor, Ont., across the river from Detroit, Dr. H. P. Taylor has been a member of the school board for 28 straight years, board chairman eight different times; in 1955 a school was named after him.

But the soft-spoken doctor and his charming wife are under no illusions that their position in the community is proof that all is rosy for the Negro, either in Windsor or Canada as a whole.

Dr. Taylor still recalls with deep chagrin how the Windsor Rotary Club blackballed his every effort to get a Negro accepted as a member.

How much of Canada's racial discrimination should be attributed to "American influence" is questionable, for while Canada has no segregation statutes or ordinances, in several areas official policy leans quite clearly toward discrimination not only against the Negro but against anyone else who is not a white Protestant from the British Isles.

This is particularly clear in the field of immigration where Canada makes little of any effort to hide the fact that while more people are being sought zealously, efforts are made to curb the number of Negroes and Asians who enter the country.

It disturbs a great many Canadians that the people entering the country in greatest numbers in recent years are Italian Catholics, but they have managed to hold the line pretty well where Negroes and Asians are concerned.

Perhaps the position of the Negro in Canada is best summed up by a former resident of the Deep South now living temporarily on Canada's West Coast.

He spent considerable time telling me the sins and shortcomings of Canadian society, but in the course of this review he paused to say:

"But be sure to add that, bad as things here can be sometimes, this still beats hell out of Florida."

McCosham Leaves $250,000 To "U""

EDMONTON — Edmonton businessman R. V. MacCosham left an estate of $1,900,000, an application for probate of his will filed at the district court here shows.

MacCosham, founder of MacCosham Storage Company and prominent in business and community affairs for 53 years here, died last December.

Under the terms of the will, a legacy of $250,000 will be paid to the University of Alberta, 15 years after his death. In addition, legacies and annuities are provided for his widow, his son, Roderick Virgil, and other members of the family. Residue of his estate will pass to the son or his children.

The team of Gilbert and Sullivan composed 14 light operas during a period of 25 years.

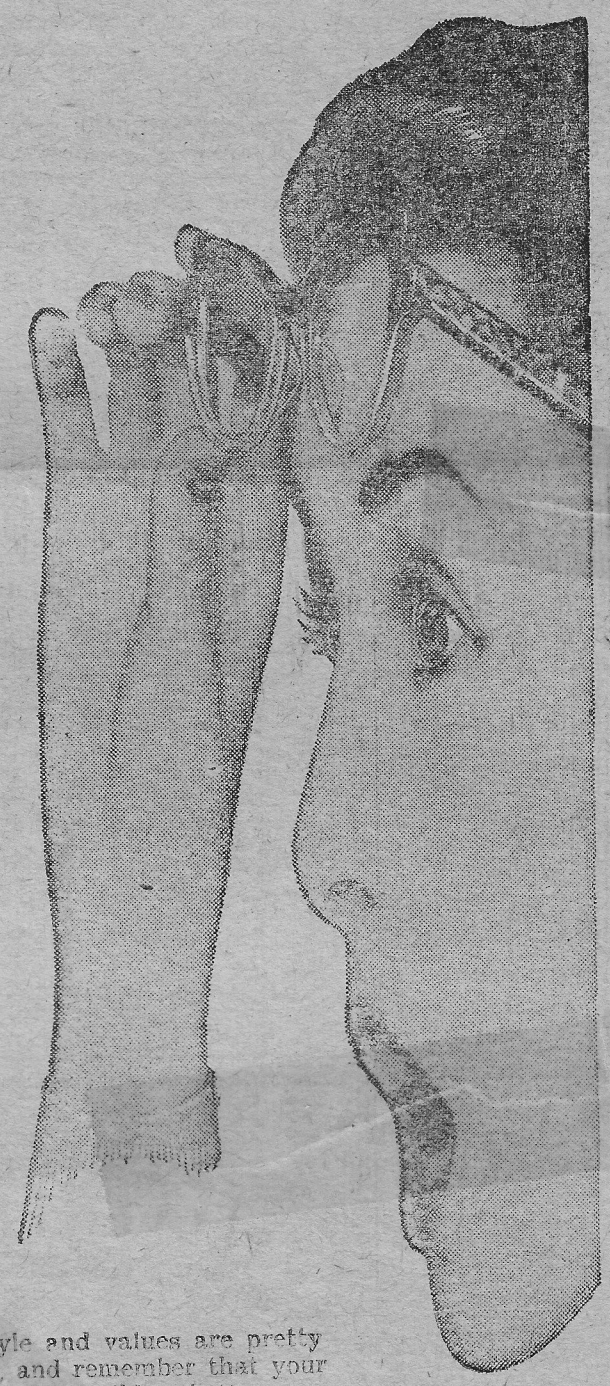
Looking for Bargains ?



"Why not do your sleuthing in your own home town?

When you add up travelling costs, not to mention road hazards, parking problems and jostling crowds, and affix these items to the "bargain" you got in the "big city" you'll probably find it wasn't such a good deal after all.

Think about it. Quality, style and values are pretty good right in our own town, and remember that your support of local business helps build a better community.

Thorhild High School Fire

By EUGENE CHIPENIUK, Grade 10

I am as stealthy as a panther.
At first I seem to be but a flicker of light;
Then, a bright reddish tongue
Creeping higher and higher,
Suddenly I become one great mass,
Leaping high,
Devouring, ruining, and destroying as I go.
I destroy buildings — large and small.
I destroy vast forests
And little wood lots.
I cause death and injury,
And great pain and misery.
Men curse and worry at my sight;
They pray for rain;
They toil hard to stop my destructiveness.
I am like a deadly weapon,
Striking at any time,
Day or night,
Leaving behind me charred remains.
Smouldering—
Black as night.
I am the destructive one;
Yet, man could not have advanced
Except for the discovery of me:
I am Fire.

Alberta Government Film Covers Highlights Of 60th Field Day

A colorful and interesting addition to TV's Country Calendar on Aug. 21 will be a film taken at the 60th Anniversary Pioneer's Field Day near Willingdon, Alta., June 11. Country Calendar is seen on CFRN at 2:30 p.m. Sundays.

CBC's Alberta farm commentator, Al Richardson, will narrate the film which was taken by the Alberta Government Department of Agriculture.

The Pioneer Museum where the Field Day was held is situated eight miles north of Willingdon and consists of an original, pioneer-type, hand-hewn, thatched roof cabin, enclosing exhibits of almost every item used by settlers when they first arrived in the district over sixty years ago.

Included on the film will be a tribute in prayer to the late pioneers; a presentation of the first plow ever used in the district to the Alberta Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. L. C. Halmrast; demonstrations of all phases of early farm life—seeding, bundling, flailing, shaking and examining seed; combing and preparing wool; and washing and ironing clothes with almost primitive facilities.

When the day's work was done, the pioneers loved a little fun and frolic. Ukrainian, Romanian and Polish folk dances were performed at every opportunity and their zest and vigor have been captured on the film.

In regular weekly features on Country Calendar Dave Innes will report on Irrigation Tour of Saskatchewan; George Price will show film taken on one of his Manitoba Mirror visits; and gardening expert Stan Westaway will discuss the planting of evergreens and the summer pruning of fruit trees.

Country Calendar is produced in Winnipeg by Gren Bates.

What World-Wide Religious Revival Means

What does the great spiritual resurgence of faith now going on throughout the world mean?

From man's standpoint, the religious revival of today means one thing, but from God's standpoint, it means another thing entirely.

The Book of Acts says: "It shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh" (Acts 2:17).

From man's standpoint, the religious revival of today means that God is making a desperate attempt to save mankind.

We all realize that man doesn't trust himself. This is why men have built the hydrogen bomb. They are afraid of the intent of their fellow men. That is why we have wars. Wars are symptoms of man's distrust of man.

Subconsciously man is recognizing his need of supernatural deliverance from other men, from the problems that he brings upon himself.

This revival means man is recognizing his own failure to bring himself peace of soul and peace of mind. Man is now realizing that he is unable, by himself, to bring peace to his own mind and soul. Therefore, he is turning to the power of the Prince of Peace, Jesus of Nazareth.

It also means that man is failing to heal himself. In spite of great medical strides, mankind is sick. We've never known such sickness in the world as we see now. Man is taking advantage of all that medical science has to offer. But with all that, he is turning to divine healing as he has never turned before in his history.

From man's standpoint, the revival means that at last his faith is becoming aroused. He is coming to realize that he is basically a spiritual being.

Christ said, "Man shall not live by bread alone." This means that man is basically a spiritual being.

From God's standpoint, the religious revival of today means that the time has come for man's regeneration. Man is seeing the end of his own efforts, the failure of his own feeble attempts to save himself. He is realizing just how inadequate he is to face the demands of life.

The religious revival means, for the future, a division of nations, groups, families, individuals. It means a beginning of the literal and complete witnessing to all nations. It means the mass miracle for millions dawning. It means the second coming of Christ is nearer today than we realize.

THE Homemaker

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

How much is a farm wife worth? It all depends . . . a specialist at Washington University says more than $2,000 a year, absolute minimum. He reached this conclusion by calculating her value as a housekeeper, baby sitter cook, nurse and governess, on a basis of a minimum of 40 hours a week (8 hours a day, five days a week, at $1.00 per hour), and this means an annual cost of replacing these services at $2089 . . . or in the years, $20,800. To all of this he adds workmen's compensation and liability insurance for the housekeeper, and the cost of advertising, interviewing and screening, plus a training period.

B. McCutcheon

Another study of the minimum cost of replacing the service of a wife and mother in a home containing a husband and two small children, four months and sixteen months, established the figure of $5,800. This was arrived at in this manner.

Combination nurse-governess for the children, $80.00 per week; part-time housekeeper (16 hours at $1.50 hr.), $24.00 per week; baby sitter (6 hours per week at $1.00 hr,), $6.00 per week (48 weeks).

Thus he reached the minimum figure of $5,800 per year, to replace the service of a wife and mother, and if the young widower remained unmarried for five years, a cost of $30,000 . . . would result.

But this is the minimum, and it doesn't include the love, the devotion, the overtime, the counselling, the companionship, and in many cases the contributions made to the family income by part-time or full-time working wives and mothers. And how can you assess the value of a farm wife who works side by side with her husband and family, gardening, helping in busy seasons in the field and in the barn, keeping farm accounts? (Isn't it time that we mere men wakened up to the fact that our most valuable asset is a neatly proportioned bundle of enticing humanity—our wives).—CFA News Bulletin.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

1. Take enamel or red nail polish and mark lines on the outside of your cleaning pail at quart levels. These will be easy guides for mixing cleaning solutions of the proper strength.

To distinguish your most used key, coat the entire top with brilliant colored nail polish.

2. Rub screws in paste wax before putting into wood—it's easier to get them in, and easier on the wood, too.

3. Lacquer — finished brass shouldn't be cleaned with a brass cleaner; instead wipe with a damp cloth. Brass lamp bases, drawer handles and decorations, and knick-knacks often come from the manufacturer with a protective lacquer finish. Brass cleaner may dissolve the finish and expose the metal to the tarnishing effect of the air and moisture. Use clear nail polish to coat metal objects such as compacts, silver jewelry, brass buttons, buckles and so on.

4. Rubber tends to tarnish silver on contact so keep elastic bands, rubber coaster, rubber scrapers, etc. where it will not come in contact with silver pieces.

Huberth Booth of London invented the vacuum cleaner about 1901.

Mission Circle Continues Study

LAVOY— The devotional for the monthly meeting of the Lavoy Baptist Mission Circle held at the home of Mrs. C. Schneider was entitled "Contrast in Life" and taken from Jane Scott's book "Adventures with God" which forms the basis for the devotionals of the group for this year. Following the reading of Hebrew 4, verses 1 to 11, Mrs. L. Smiley who gave the devotional continued by reading "we need to learn early in life that God gave us work that we might better appreciate rest. Just as a car requires refueling and having an oil change, our bodies and minds require servicing. We need to have our oil changed in our hearts very often to keep us from burning out our oil bearings. Sunday is a day of rest, and we should learn to stop on the Lord's day at the Lord's service station long enough to have our oil changed. Jesus bade the disciples to "Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place and rest awhile." We moderns have forfeited peace because we have forsaken the house of God and failed to observe the sweet hour of prayer."

"Changes in Villa Victoria" by Dorothy Franklin and read by Mrs. J. Kozak told of the work and the clinic in this part of Bolivia. Miss Franklin reported CARE products are much appreciated and used at their VBS school. Mrs. P. Olson continued reading a letter from Nancy Mitchell, Angola, in which she relates experiences while in charge of a dispensary on the mission field there, while teaching nurses and working with the women. She ended with "In Angola the people are eager and willing to be taught." Mrs. F. Smiley read a news-letter from Rev. B. Johnston of North Battleford relating news of their Indian work in the area.

Items on "Lord, I Believe" taken from a radio address over CBC by Rev. F. Patch, former general secretary of the Baptist Union of Western Canada, were given by those attending the meeting as answer to the roll call.

The business session was conducted by President Mrs. R. Dinwoodie, who reported a food parcel is to be sent to Miss Ada Sewell, RN, in Angola, in September by the group. A report on the reading course was given by Cora Schneider, with a reminder that the Scripture for the year 1960 is 2nd Samuel and 2nd Timothy.

The September meeting is scheduled for Sept. 6 at the home of Mrs. J. Roth, with Mrs. R. Dinwoodie and Mrs. C. Bauman as cohostesses.

A lunch served by Mrs. Schneider and her daughter concluded a worthwhile afternoon.

Net Proceeds Of Sports Day, $475, Marked For Painting Curling Rink

The Redwater Curling Association's annual sports days opened with one of the best parades seen in Redwater with some 30 floats participating. The parade started off at 1:00 p.m., led by Constable Roy Murray of the local RCMP detachment followed by the Scout, Cubs, decorated bicycles and then the many fine floats which extended for nearly three-quarters of a mile.

Prizes for decorated bicycles went to: 1st, Michael Carby; 2nd, Diana Bourgon; 3rd, Robert Lambert; best tricycle, Bobby Petryk.

Float awards: 1st, Redwater Mercantile; 2nd, Canadian Fina Oil; 3rd, Redwater Lions' Club, with honorable mention going to Tartan Transport, United Church and Sunset Coffee Bar.

The judging must have proved difficult considering the originality of many of the floats. The judges were John Bracco, Ned Fechan and Mrs. McInnery, all of Edmonton.

The two-day affair included an eight-team ball tournament which gave the citizens an opportunity to see some excellent baseball with the home team, Redwater Pontiacs, winning first money and Boyle, Leduc and Delph taking home second, third and fourth money in that order. A golf pitching range was a new and successful added attraction, along with many other varied midway games and rides drawing a good crowd. The food concession booth was again well organized by the ladies of the Curling Club. The net proceeds were $475.29 which will be used to paint the curling rink.

The Redwater Curling Association would like to express their appreciation and thanks for the excellent response and effort given by so many which attributed to the success of the annual sports days.

TIPS FOR PARENTS

By EDITH HENRY
(Parent Education Associates)

EACH partner brings certain assets to the founding of a new family. Among them can be a desirable attitude towards money. We all hope our adolescent or young adult will carry away from his first home an attitude which is reasonable and wholesome.

Money can unfortunately be regarded by parents as something to hoard. It can be used as a measure of all things. The Smiths valued their possessions according to cost. The Lees only chose to know people who were wealthy. The Grants spoke of the "expensive" education they were giving their children. The possession of money can be looked upon as the culmination of success.

NOT EVERYTHING

More wholesome attitudes see money as important, but not related to everything. It is the means by which we provide ourselves with food and shelter, as well as comfort and luxury.

It does not buy all things. The most precious are beyond price—the friendship of good neighbors, the affection of close friends and family members. Money is not entirely a personal belonging, but a family holding.

Whatever attitude our own family has will be passed on in part to the next generation. It will be absorbed from the small words and acts of daily living. The child cannot help being strongly influenced.

We should like to feel that, from our example, when young Sally marries she will be ready to get along happily on the money available. Her time and thought she will not waste on contemplating what she could do and have if her supply were greater.

We should like to feel that our home life had been so full of interesting activities and shared pleasures that Sally has learned to depend on other things than money for fun and happiness.

We should like her to be able to measure success with a yardstick that shows growth in family love, in neighborhood and community service, as well as increased efficiency in her husband's work with its money reward.
